A large number of navvies in the camp were armed with Winchester ritles and revolvers, and a Winchester ritles and revolvers, and a regular watch organized to prevent the steamer from landing the detachment. Notices were also posted declaring that the police would not be allowed to remain at Michipicoten. The steamer has been delayed owing to stress of weather, but news of her arrival at Michipicoten can be expected at any moment. No Better Than Anyhody Else's Nelce.

published here that the neice of Richard Wagner, the great composer, is living in Wagner, the great composer, is living in this city in great want. Her maiden name is Dorethea Brockhaus. She was married to Baron Von Berckefeldt, an officer in the army of Hanover, who was compelled to retire from service owing to physical disability. The marriage was contrary to the wishes of her relatives, and since removing to this city her husband has been very unfortunate, and is now a laborer in a fertilizing factory earning one dollar a day. She states her mother was the youngest sister of Wagner.
